

Chapter-4

Just 3 chapters in and I already feel the pressure of a novelist a great novelist though, obviously, great and I are synonyms, so that, more like legend, oh no, I need to stop yapping about me, this is about you and us, So umm the 4th month September, I remember that I used to have less classes on Wednesday, a half day and I would return excited to come and talk to you and damn were those conversation really good, pretty intense to be very honest like at-least for me, the talks were really hot, like this was the month where I found about my new fantasy, free use and also started to tell you about many of them, like damn, what a month for real, I guess it was the first month where you touched yourself while talking to me, it was either this month or the next but you get what I'm trying to say, we were getting closer to each other. This was also the first month where you like deliberately talked about your sexual attraction to me, that was hot for very obvious reasons. Like, all in all this month was pretty normal but different because now there was a new angle to each others lives in it, I might be confusing myself with the month of October at some places but those month can be considered as a one single unit too, we'll not do that, your artist boyfriend doesn't have any shortage of words to speak about you and to you, to what I remember those were pretty smooth months, with tons of photos, uff, the batches that I got, so incredible, that too also started from a wish I had otherwise who even knows, dumbo babyyyy, at this time though we were still talking on the messages app, so many liked messages, I remember one of the very first messaged that I liked being of you asking me to sleep, more like a command but yeah that was weirdly hot. I just hope I complete all these by the right time, pretty doubtful of that to be honest but will surely get something or another to finish this off quick more like on time.