

Chapter-3

So, mmm the month of June-July-August, yes August, so ooh another significant month of our lives, again one of the most important ones, you in a lot of confusions, not knowing what step of yours take you where, you scared to hurt me and like all that stuff, so a few days in, where we both confess our mutual attraction, I remember confessing that I've been fantasising about you a lot, that being obviously true. We face the question of 'what are we?'. Hnmm, the answer turned out to be mmm pretty bad for that time. The date of 14th comes up, like after a couple of days of that conversation, I receive a mail at 9:00pm exactly and that message really didn't you know as bad as it could have because you had already told me that whatever you have to tell me is bad and not something I would have been looking forward too. Then in the night we talk, Like for the night of 13th, I have it noted, like at 12:43AM of 14th August, 2023, I was like 'Does it end?', at 1.18AM of same date, I started to accept a bit writing, 'yeah, most prolly it does*laughing emoji*(laugh is a cope up mechanism)' and then at 2:05AM, same date I wrote, 'Yes, it did, more sure', the day filled with awkwardness and at 7:48pm, again the same date, I wrote 'How hard should I even try, if I must in the first place. Hehe, might worth a shot tho.', at this time I gained back a bit of my motivation and I won't lie after reading your mail I was a bit convinced that whatever my next action is, it might not turn into a lost cause but rather an important one, my last shot most probably and I wrote that massive lecture, I guess I started with, 'Shut-up and listen to me' I don't remember much, by the end explaining to you that I am not in love because of what you look like, your body or sex, like of course all these are also the reasons but those are the result of attraction not the causes for attraction and like just me telling you about how you cannot let your past hold you back for something that you have not even tried and all and all and I guess it was pretty convincing, hehe, I got you, so the night of 14th, I had written, 'I fixed it, we fixed it', it was 1:03AM of 15th of August, then at 1:48AM, same night, 'Ohh, she said it*laughing emoji*'. Pretty adventurous month if you wanna say it like that, this was also among the months where we used to play that dumb multi-personality thing for different social media platforms, cute you know but then, yes we finally on 26th of August went out together, on a fuckin' date, the our day, this the official date where 'US' started from. What a wonderful day it was for real and even the next day, where I had this really bad urge to kiss you but you know gotta be a bit courteous, I was looking around the whole time though if you had noticed. Oooh the hand on your thighs was really a bliss for real. Huh! This like the tale our very important month. I Love You My Baby!