

Chapter-9

Lets jump into the month of February now, of 2024, like I said in the last chapter, chapter-8. So mmm, this month was heavy on calls, like this was the month from which I found that how I much I like calls now, didn't have that idea initially. So there were a lot of calls exchanged, a lot of voice notes like I literally got more in love with your voice for how sweet, cute and at moments arousing it was and and and we played our first game on 4th of Feb, 2024. Ooh I remember, this and like January turned me into such a hyper-sexual guy, like I cannot even explain, the intensity rose up to just whole another plateau, whole another fuckin' level, at least for me and those experiences were incredible even are to the whatever current day it is. The phone sex, especially the morning one, fuck it, like mind blowing experience, either ways like on calls or texts, all equally amazing experience and talking about the game, I didn't know Im going to enjoy them so bad, we haven't played in a long while though, we really should, it was really an experience, these months our relationship grew way more intimate and for how amazing that is, I am all here for it, a hot hot month. I don't remember much of the disputes for most months because like I've told you I want to enjoy my life, everything that's happening around me, I want to enjoy it, I want to enjoy them with you my love, huh! I miss you while writing all this you know, kinda really bad. Huh! So to sum this month up it was pretty exciting, seeing you participating more in the activities is really the best view in my eyes and I just can tell you that you were the sole reason these days became fun and kinda worthy of a lot of stuff. Worst part is I cannot ask you other significant moments/events of any of the months, don't wanna ruin anything in any way you know. I hope you like all this though.